There is an increased number of residents putting the right bins out on the right day. Prior to the pilot starting on the 26 October, there was an increased level of enquiries. This has now decreased significantly, and the enquiries cover routine operational issues. More residents have signed up to receive email alerts for information on the pilot; www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/wheelie-bin-pilot-updates We asked residents to work with the containers they had been provided with for at least four weeks before making contact. To date, we have received 10 enquiries; 5 residents wish to swap from boxes to bins and 5 residents wish to swap from bins to boxes. Late last week, satisfaction postcards were delivered to all households in the pilot area. The survey can be completed online, or people can complete the postcard and return it via the Freepost address. To date, almost 100 residents have completed the survey online and 17 residents have posted postcards back to us. And, ongoing, people can contact us by phone and email and this feedback is also recorded."
